Classroom Updates:

I have begun our Parent Conference's. If you have not set up your conference time yet, please contact me this week to set up at date and time.

This past week we had another great visit from our Community Helpers, the Mt. Pleasant Canine Police Officers. We loved petting the police officers, asking questions, and looking at the police cars. This week we will have our last community helper come visit, a meteorologist!

This week we will begin a new unit on our Five Senses. We will continue learning our letters, counting, and reading.

I am so proud of my friends who worked extra hard at home and completed their homework for the month! Every month they have the opportunity to earn a book for their hard work. Make sure to pack that notebook, we always collect on the last day of the month and check to see who completed. You will receive the notebook stapled and with a new assignment for October.

Every child is unique and their homework now reflects what they are capable of completing with minimal parent support. Please read the homework with your child and see what they can accomplish on their own. They just might surprise you!

Please check your folders this week for the Library Card Application. If your child does not have one they will need one for a future field trip. Please fill out and return. If you already have one for your child please indicate on the form and return.

October Birthday!

Happy Birthday Benny!

Our class is learning to work together, play together and share. Kindergarten friends are life long friends that build the foundation for future relationships, inside and outside school. Call a friend from class, make a playdate. Watch them play together. You will learn a lot about your child and their friendships.
